TWO WOMEN SHOT.

FURTHER RIOTING IN PENNSYLVANIA COKE FIELDS

Hungarians Defend Their Homes Against the Sheriff. The Sheriff is Driven Away and Returns with Reinforcements. A Pitched Battle Ensues.

Fayette [illegible] April [illegible] Uniontown [illegible] learned that [illegible] in the coke regions [illegible] troops have been called [illegible] tragedy and [illegible]

The Fayette county officers went to A[illegible] this morning where they met those [illegible] after a great deal of trouble and opposition. They were then [illegible] by the strikers and driven away.

Reinforced by Sheriff McCormick at [illegible] large force the deputies returned where a pitched battle took place in which the sheriff, a posse and about 30 Hungarians took part, a woman of which a Hungarian girl was killed and others injured among whom are several deputies. The battle occurred about [illegible] o'clock this afternoon while the members of company C were lunching down at the Barber house.

The deputies were trying to keep the Hungarians from carrying back the household goods which had been thrown out of the houses in the forenoon. A big strong Hungarian was fighting with the deputies, when Sheriff McCormick started to arrest him. The Hungarian saw him coming and tried to shoot. The girl who was near was a sweetheart of the big Hun and was fighting for him with the ferocity of a young lioness. The deputies say the pistol went off in the hands of the Hun and killed his sweetheart. If it had not been that several of company C at that moment came up every deputy would doubtless have been injured, if not killed. Sheriff McCormick was shot through the thumb by the bullet that killed the girl.

Evictions will take place at Leith to-morrow and trouble is feared. One hundred and three Pinkertons are stationed at Leisenring where eighty five men are at work in the pit. Company C will rejoin at Adelaide to-night. Deputies Crawford and Kedo arrived here this evening with three prisoners captured during the riot.

It is learned at a late hour to-night that in the fight between the sheriff's deputies and the mob, that two women were fatally shot, one of whom died in a few minutes and the other cannot live. The sheriff used every persuasion [illegible] was in vain.

Another Riot.

Uniontown, April [illegible].—A second riot occurred at Adelaide at 4 o'clock this afternoon. A Hungarian girl was shot during the riot by her lover in mistake and is reported dead.

During the second eviction of a Hungarian family who had gone back into their home the sheriff and deputies were attacked by a mob. One of the Huns drew a revolver and threatened to shoot the sheriff when Deputy Crawford started to take the weapon from the man. Immediately two shots were fired, one of which hit the Hungarian's sweetheart, who had gotten between her lover and the deputy. [illegible] fire [illegible] the sheriff's thumb. The girl was carried into an adjoining house, and shortly after was reported dead. Company C arrived about this time, and the mob dispersed. The strikers afterward swore out a warrant for Deputy Crawford's arrest but he waived the arrests to take three prisoners to jail. The deputy says the Hungarian tried to shoot Sheriff McCormick.

The Strikers' Meeting.

Scottdale, Pa., April [illegible].—Over 3,000 strikers marched here this afternoon and listened to addresses of their leaders. The meeting was held at the lower end of town and the civil authorities offered no resistance.

Red ribbons were worn by many but contrary to expectations the red flag was not to be seen. Alex Jones, the Socialist, was the first speaker. He said if the newspapers were to be believed their mission was to provoke murder, etc.

De Laber, the Socialist leader, next spoke and admonished the men to stay out till May 1, when the great eight hour movement would be inaugurated. He said instead of the Pinkerton men arriving in the coke region to-day much money had arrived. Other labor leaders also spoke. A blackleg who was found in the crowd narrowly escaped with his life.

In the Coke Regions.

Scottdale, Pa., April [illegible].—The situation in the coke region has not materially changed. At the Leisenring plant of the Frick company 150 Pinkertons are doing duty and more than two carloads of the 500 Punxsutawney Italians have arrived. The people at the Painter plant report still more men at work this morning. General Superintendent Brennan is at the plant daily and is priding himself on being able to operate the works so far without the aid of armed officers. He generally stands well with his people, and it is not thought any harm will come to his work out of personal feeling. Over seventy five of the families there will be evicted to-morrow or Friday.

The Socialistic end of the striking miners commenced a series of meetings here to-day. Two prominent Socialists from New York are here to do the talking and it is feared harm may come to the community from their talk. However, it is understood that officers will be put on their track and that they will be placed under arrest if necessary. No evictions occurred at Morewood this morning but Sheriff Clawson is here and will set the goods of eight families on the street during the afternoon.

Alliance Conference.

Hornellsville, N. Y., April [illegible].—[illegible] L. L. Polk, president of the National Farmers Alliance, Rev. R. R. Davis, chaplain of the Georgia Alliance, and other officers of that organization met 150 delegates from the state Farmers Alliance here to-day. The morning session was public and the delegates were addressed by Henry Hicks and T. B. Maguire of the Knights of Labor who expressed themselves as being in sympathy with the object of the Alliance. No business was done this morning. At half past one the convention reassembled and was presided over by the National Alliance president L. L. Polk of Washington. His address which consumed the entire afternoon was devoted to the work of the organization. He outlined the work done in [illegible] ally on the question of politics. He decided that the Alliance was no asylum for disgruntled politicians and advised the local leaders to shun anything in the way of politics. We want no third party, he said, only a just and reasonable set of laws for the farmer and more economical administration of government. At the conclusion of his address the regular routine committee were appointed and also a committee to report on [illegible] took them [illegible] when he left it in December.

QUO WARRANTO

Proceedings Against the Judges of the Court of Appeals.

Denver, April 22.—The [illegible] attorney general [illegible] Maupin in behalf of the people of Colorado vs. George Q. Richmond, Julius B. Bissell and Gilbert B. Reed, the judges of the court of appeals were filed with the clerk of the supreme court this morning. The petition alleges that each of the above named defendants has for the period of ten days and upwards now last past held and still does hold [illegible] the offices of judge of the court of appeals of the state of Colorado without any legal election, appointment, warrant or authority whatsoever therefor. The attorney general prays the advice of the supreme court and due process of law against the said defendants to be cited to answer to the said people by what warrant he claims to hold, use and exercise the right aforementioned. The case will be heard next Monday by the supreme court.

The Secretary Explains.

Washington, April 22.—Secretary Tracy when asked to-night why Commander Reiter, after being relieved from command of the Ranger as a result of his action in the Barrundia affair, had been given command of the Thetis said that the order to Commander Reiter did not indicate the slightest modification of the position taken in the letter of censure. The published version of the secretary's letter and every fact that had come to his knowledge since confirmed the views expressed in that letter. The present detail, Secretary Tracy said, of Commander Reiter, was for purely scientific duty not connected with the naval squadron. The duty to which he was assigned consisted in completing the hydrographic survey which had been begun by him over a year ago. It was the duty of the department to utilize the service of its officers to the best advantage, and no other officer was equally available for that service. The Thetis, which Reiter is to command is not a man of war, and does not carry a single gun.

Horse Breeders Convention.

Chicago, April [illegible].—The Trotting Horse breeders convention assembled at the Wellington at 11 o'clock this morning. It was called to order by Henry W. T. Mali, president of the national association of trotting breeders. Mr. Mali in opening the convention said it had been called by the executive of the national association in response to a resolution made at the last meeting of the association to enlarge and increase the membership and value of the organization. The committee had formulated a plan, copies of which were at hand, but that the plan under the constitution of the association could not be acted upon until next December. The question of official registration was not to be acted upon at this time. He believed in the organization of a national registration association. The organization of the convention was perfected by the election of Henry W. Mali, as presiding officer and F. W. Packer as secretary.

Death of Gen. G. P. Grier.

St. Louis, Mo., April 22.—Gen. G. P. Grier died at his residence in this city at a late hour last night. General Grier was a member of the G. A. R. and Loyal Legion. At the outbreak of the war he recruited a company of volunteers of which he was elected captain and which entered the service of the Union as Company G, Eighth Missouri infantry. On August 15th, 1862, he was commissioned colonel of the 77th Illinois volunteers and served throughout the war being commissioned brevet brigadier general on March 26, 1865, a promotion well earned by four years faithful service. The remains will be taken to Peoria, Ills., to-night for interment.

Hot Political Contest.

Nashville, Tenn., April [illegible].—A Montgomery, Ala., special: Montgomery is now in the throes of one of the hottest campaigns for mayor in its history and feeling runs high. The contest is between Col. W. Ross, ex-mayor and John G. Crommelin. Both have strong adherents and betting is even so far on the candidates, which is freely offered and as freely taken. It is estimated by a shrewd observer that over $50,000 will change hands on the result. There are a number of $1000 bets and $500 bets are common. Both sides are confident and lively times are expected. The primaries take place next Saturday.

New York at the World's Fair.

Albany, N. Y., April [illegible].—Senator Stark's bill making an appropriation for the World's Fair will be reported by the assembly ways and means committee, amended so that the commission for New York shall be Chauncey M. Depew, [illegible] alternate [illegible] B[illegible] and John [illegible] Thatcher and lady alternate James Roosevelt. The appropriation is also increased to $250,000 and all the provisions relating to the lady managers are stricken out.

Weather Indications.

Washington, April [illegible].—For Colorado—Warmer, fair, southerly winds.

The senate finance committee met for the purpose of determining its course of procedure under the resolutions directing the committee to make an investigation into the [illegible] McKinley tariff law. A subcommittee consisting of Messrs. Allison, W[illegible], Hiscock, Carlisle and Harris was appointed to prosecute the inquiry. It will first collect syndicate information and will not until later in the year at least take any testimony. The subcommittee will meet next week.

EXTENSIVE FIRES.

DAVIS AND CRESWELL'S DENVER HOUSE BURNED

The Most Extensive Machinery Establishment in the West. A Destructive Fire in Rome, N. Y. Valuable Horses Cremated. Just [illegible] A Chicago Fire.

Denver, April 22.—About [illegible] o'clock to[illegible] fire was discovered in the machinery [illegible] of Davis & Creswell on Blake [illegible] this city. In a few moments the entire [illegible] was wrapped in flames. For a [illegible] it looked as if the entire block would go but by [illegible] hard fighting confined the flames to the building, its starting place. The firm is the largest and most extensive of its kind in the west and carried a stock of over $100,000. The building and contents are an entire loss. The loss will be in the neighborhood of [illegible] insurance [illegible] divided among the leading companies. The origin of the fire is unknown.

A Big Fire in Rome.

Rome, N. Y., April 22.—Fire destroyed J. B. Wiggins & Sons brick block 231 and 233 West Dominick street to-day. The second and third floors were occupied by Wiggins & Sons furniture store, the ground floor by F. & H. Barnard harness dealers, and the basement by J. M. Sturtevant restaurant. The adjoining block owned by Mrs. George Dickerson, the Farmers hotel and the Pritchard block were also burned. Loss, about $100,000, insurance, $50,000.

Many Horses Burned.

St. Paul, Minn., April 22.—Fire started here to-night at 11 o'clock in the boarding stable of J. B. Cook, on the corner of Eleventh and Jackson streets. It spread rapidly and by 12 o'clock three or four dwelling houses and several stables and a lumber yard, church and several other buildings were burning. Large numbers of horses were cremated. William Groves, a barn hand was killed in trying to save one of the fast horses (Jennie C.) and two other barn hands are missing, and it is thought they were suffocated in trying to save some of the horses.

At 1 o'clock this morning the fire was under control. The entire block was swept away, including several handsome residences, Cook's boarding and livery stable, Hayward and Walker's planing mill and lumber yard, a Swedish church and several minor buildings. Sixty-six running horses and three valuable trotting horses were cremated. Wm. Graves was burned to death in attempting to save one of the trotting horses. Charles Larken was fatally injured trying to rescue Graves. Loss, $125,000, insurance unknown.

Fire in Chicago.

Chicago, April 22.—Fire in the furniture factory of Wullweber & Co. on Randolph street this afternoon did damage estimated at nearly $100,000. Manley Semple, one of the employes, was badly burned.

Roasted Alive.

Denver, April 22.—Charles Swazy, a lineman in the employ of the Colorado telephone company, met with a horrible death to-night. He was repairing a telephone wire on the top of a very high pole on the corner of Curtis and Twenty-eighth streets. Lower down on the same pole were some electric light wires. His footing on the pole slipped and he fell, but still kept off the telephone wire, his feet touching the electric light wire which sent the current through his body killing him instantly, it is supposed. He was found an hour and a half after he had been seen to climb the pole, his body lying across the electric light wires, the telephone wire in his hand and his flesh smoking and burning. Deceased was unmarried and resided in this city.

The body was literally roasted in the presence of over 1000 people who had gathered in the street, but none dared attempt to recover the body. The fire department was finally called out, and it was taken down with the aid of fire hooks.

The Millington Trial.

Denver, April 22.—Mr. Garrigues continued his address to the Millington jury, and did not conclude until 11 o'clock. He was followed by Mr. Lee for the defense, who took up the remainder of the day. Before beginning his reply to Mr. Garrigues, he said: "I will hazard the statement that there has never been a case in a court of justice where there have been as many witnesses, as many attorneys, as many officers in the service of the prosecution, aiding and abetting it, as there have been in this case. There never has been a case in which so much care and labor has been expended, where so many facts have been gathered together to winnow, if possible, some few grains of wheat from the mass of chaff. The prosecution have studied and elaborated these facts and woven them into a mosaic which follows some set pattern."

Mr. Lee spoke of the incident of the quarrel at the court house. "What was the testimony? Why, this man Budroe came up the street and he heard Millington and Avery quarreling. It was intended to prove that Millington had threatened Avery. It was necessary that they should quarrel. So they had Millington and Avery quarreling about Avery's wife. "Avery had learned that Millington was intimate with his wife, that he had made his name a disgrace in the community and so this disgraced and outraged man goes down town, he meets the man who has shattered his family idol and he says: "I'll tell somebody on you. If you don't stop I'll give it away. That" [illegible] they would [illegible] you believe. It was necessary. They paid $50 for this testimony. Why, it is worth $500. The estate is worth a great deal more than that."

Mr. Lee then paid his respects in a similar way to the testimony of Mrs. Revell, Mr. Probst and the servant girl, attempting to show that their evidence was manufactured for the occasion, and for the purpose of keeping the Avery fortune out of Mrs. Millington's hands.

Begging Swindlers.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 22.—A few weeks ago two strangers, apparently farmers, arrived here and registered at the Merchants Exchange, as A. A. Paine and Christopher Bott, of Ellendale, N. D. They told the exchange that the people of North Dakota were suffering intensely for food, clothing and money owing to the complete failure of the crops, and pleaded for assistance. They exhibited a letter from Judge Gresham, of Chicago saying that the money was needed for the suffering people and stated $1500 had been raised in Chicago to relieve the distress. A snug sum of money was raised for them and they were sent to the mayor's office for more. The mayor was asked for $500 from the relief fund which was gathered for the Johnstown flood sufferers. The mayor grew suspicious and wrote to Governor Burke, of North Dakota for a true statement on the subject before turning over the money. An answer was received to-day, showing conclusively that the farmers were not authorized to collect money. The governor in a lengthy [illegible] says there are undoubtedly some cases of [illegible] charity in McIntosh county, but as neither the county nor state have as yet exhausted their resources in supplying the wants of the people I am of the opinion that the authorities would prefer to use all efforts within their power before asking for outside aid.

A letter was received from the governor of South Dakota stating the people there did not need help.

BASE BALL

Interesting Opening Game of the National League.

New York, April 22.—The National League championship season opened here to-day in a blaze of glory. There was music and a parade and over 15,000 persons attended the game. The spectators witnessed a magnificent battle and were well repaid for the trouble of their long journey to the grounds. Every inch of ground was stubbornly disputed but the victory finally fell into the lap of the visitors. This result was gained by a clever rally at the bat in the last half of the ninth, when defeat stared them in the face. The score: New York 3, Boston 4.

PITTSBURG—CHICAGO.

Pittsburg, April 22.—Five thousand five hundred admirers of the national game witnessed the opening of the league season in this city to-day in a very closely contested match between Chicago and home nines. The visitors won by an error of Carroll in the tenth inning, who muffed an easy fly to right field. The score: Pittsburg 6, Chicago 7.

PHILADELPHIA—BROOKLYN.

Philadelphia, April 22.—The league championship season was begun in this city to-day, before nearly 9000 spectators. The game was uninteresting and proved an easy victory for the Brooklyns by a score of 14 to 8. The visitors scored seven runs in the first inning. Score: Brooklyn, 14; Philadelphia 8.

CINCINNATI—CLEVELAND.

Cincinnati, April 22.—About 4,000 enthusiasts sat beneath raised umbrellas to-day to witness the defeat of the home team by a score of 6 to 3. The game was relieved only by the creditable playing of Davis and Virtue of the visitors. Score: Cincinnati 3; Cleveland 6.

Western League.

DENVER—MINNEAPOLIS.

Denver, April 22.—Denver out-played Minneapolis again to-day, but had a very close call. When the visitors went to the bat in the ninth they were eight runs behind, but Keefe suddenly let down and the Millers pounded him all over the grounds. The visitors had sent six men across the plate and two men were on the bases with only one man out when Kennedy went in the box. Earle died on an attempted steal and Hengle struck out. Such an exciting game has not been seen here this season. One hundred people were in attendance. Score:

Denver	1	3	0	0	1	2	3	2	1	13
Minneapolis	1	3	0	1	0	0	0	0	6	11

Batteries—Keefe, Kennedy and Lohbeck, Mitchell and [illegible]. Earned runs—Denver 4, Minneapolis 4. Two base hits—White 1, McClellan 2, McGarr, Mitchell 1. Three base hits—[illegible] Carroll [illegible]. Bases stolen—McGlone 2, Shugart 2, White 1, Curtis 2, Lohbeck 2, McClellan 2, Tebeau. Runs batted in by—White 3, Carroll 1, Mitchell 1, Shugart 2. Umpire—Collins.

KANSAS CITY—SIOUX CITY.

Kansas City, Mo., April 22.—Kansas City and Sioux City played a very exciting game today, resulting in a victory for the visitors. It was a pitchers battle and had Pears been given proper support he would have won the game. A very rank error by Manning in the eighth inning, gave Sioux City a lead of two runs which the home team was unable to overcome. De Wald pitched an excellent game and was well supported most of the time. The only run Kansas City got was unearned. The score was as follows:

OMAHA—ST. PAUL.

Omaha, Neb., April 22.—Again did the Apostles fall a victim to the home team. Norman Baker was put in the box for the first time and five Apostles fanned the air three straight before his steady throwing. Hart was in the box for the visitors and pitched a good game, but the heavy batters of Omaha were too much and eight base hits were made off his delivery. Both teams fielded well, but the heavy batters placed their hits to advantage. The attendance was small. Omaha 4, St. Paul 2.

LINCOLN—MILWAUKEE.

Lincoln, Neb., April 22.—Lincoln took possession of the game at the start today and held it until the close. At no time was Milwaukee in it seriously. Burkett pitched a faultless game, only letting down for a resting spell in the eighth. Vickery was rapped hard by the home team, and gave way to Clausen in the fifth inning without changing the course of events. The field work of both clubs was good. Attendance was the largest ever seen on the grounds. Score: Lincoln 12; Milwaukee, 7.

Clamoring for War.

London, April 22.—To-day's despatches from Lisbon represent that the situation there is very grave. A popular clamor is again arising for war with England, and the government may hasten a revolution by opposing the aggressive sentiment. The French emissaries are at work inciting the people against both royalty and England, and it is even asserted that the French government looks with approval on the agitation, and is anxious to see the last reigning Bourbon driven from his throne.

Russian Proscription.

St. Petersburg, April 22.—The official messenger published a decree prohibiting any Jewish artisans or traders from entering the city of Moscow and expelling those already residing there. The czar wrote with his own hand on the bottom of the original document to the officials how the decree was to be carried out in every particular. It is stated that a similar decree is projected for St. Petersburg.

Parliamentary Election.

London, April 22.—An election to fill the vacancy in the house of commons for the middle division of Oxfordshire, took place in that division yesterday. The candidates were Mr. Merrill (Liberal-unionist) and Mr. Benson (Gladstonian.) The result was a majority for Mr. Merrill, who received 4118 votes, against 3700 cast for his opponent. At the last election Mr. McLean (Liberal-unionist) was returned without opposition.

Fava at Home.

Rome, April 22.—Baron Fava, the Italian minister at Washington, who recently left that city on leave of absence, has arrived here. Immediately after the baron's arrival he had a prolonged conference with the Marquis di Rudini upon the various aspects of the New Orleans affair. The outcome of this conference, if it is to have any definite result, has not transpired.

FRUITS AND FLOWERS.

CALIFORNIA'S RECEPTION TO PRESIDENT HARRISON

A Night Ride Across the Desert. Indians Appeal for Assistance. The Speech at Colton. Los Angeles Reception Among the Roses.

[illegible], Cal., April 22.—The presidential party entered the state of California at Fort Yuma at 4:20 o'clock this morning. Here the party was presented with a large quantity of beautiful flowers and fruits. The entire party was asleep but the [illegible] did not see the presentation committee. When the presidential party reached Indio, it was received by a large and influential delegation, including Governor Markham and staff, ex-Governor Perkins, Senator Felton, Judge Van Fleet of Sacramento, S. M. White of Los Angeles, [illegible] of the Southern Pacific road and Mr. Stump, chairman of the Republican state committee. Governor Markham made an address of welcome on behalf of all the people of the state. President Harrison made a short reply.

Before the leaving this station a delegation of Cahuilla Indians presented the president with a written petition asking for assistance. The route from Indio northward was up a heavy grade and three engines drew the train along slowly. The scenery in the valley between San Jacinto and San Bernardino mountains was much admired by the president.

Banning, a health resort gave the president a floral welcome. The Indian children from the mission school near by, loaded the [illegible] platform of the car with [illegible] wild flowers, and the white children in the crowd pelted the presidential party with bunches of poppy blossoms. The president made a short speech of thanks to the people, and received three cheers and an anvil salute in return.

At Beaumont, more flowers were presented to the party and at Colton, where the train arrived at 12:30 this afternoon another floral reception was given. The station building was profusely decorated with flags and the school children of the town waved banners and cheered as the train halted. Reception committees from the towns of Redlands, San Bernardino and Colton were also on hand. The president was introduced by Governor Markham and made a few remarks which were loudly applauded. The train left Colton at 12.50 p. m. amid the strains of America by a brass band.

President Harrison spoke at Colton as follows:

"We have traveled now something more than 3500 miles. There have been 3500 miles of cordial greeting from my fellow citizens; they have been 3500 miles of perpetual talk. It would require a brain more fertile in resources, more diversified in its operations than the state of California in its productions, to say something original or interesting at each of these stopping places, but I can say always with a warm heart to my fellow citizens who greet me so cordially, who look to me out of such kindly faces, I thank you. I have been greatly pleased this morning to come off the land of the desert and drifting sands into this land of homes and of sunlight [illegible] glad to see these beautiful gardens, these fertile fields and to know that you are now by the economical collection and distribution of waters of the hills, making all these valleys to smile like a garden of Eden. We do not come as spies to look at your land with any view of dispossessing you, as the original spies went into Palestine, we come simply to exchange friendly greetings and we shall hope to carry away nothing that does not belong to us. [Cheers]. If we shall leave your happy and prosperous state freighted with your good will and love as we shall have ours with you it will be a happy exchange. [Cheers]."

Los Angeles Reception.

Los Angeles, April 22.—The presidential party arrived in Los Angeles at 3 p. m. in cars laden with fragrant flowers and California fruits. At Colton Mayor Hazard and the Los Angeles reception committee met the party. The Los Angeles railroad station was a good [illegible], struggling, enthusiastic mass of people when the train rolled in. Cheer followed cheer as the president alighted with Governor Markham and walked through a lane of policemen to a profusely decorated carriage drawn by four horses. Military and civic organizations had [illegible] formed along the principal streets and as the president's carriage passed along, Grand Army posts, military companies and civic societies lined the streets, and local officers and local committeemen fell into line. The president stood erect in his carriage, knee deep in flowers. He received a continuous ovation from the station to the city hall, where a grand stand had been erected. The building and stand were profusely decorated with flowers and bunting, and several thousand people were packed in a solid mass around the stand. When the crowd had finished cheering the appearance of the president, Mayor Hazard made an address of welcome, and Governor Markham introduced the chief executive, who made a brief speech, paying tribute to the American flag and American institutions. Postmaster Wanamaker and Secretary Rusk also spoke and were very loudly cheered.

To-night the whole city turned out to a public reception given to the president at the Hazard pavilion. The exterior and interior of the building was decorated with flowers, the entire front of the stage being covered with roses. The president, Governor Markham, Mayor Hazard and Messrs. Wanamaker and Rusk made short speeches and after the president had shaken hands with a large number of the people present, he and the other members of the party were conveyed to the Union League club and entertained by its members. From the club house the presidential party returned to the train and retired for the night.

The Republican League.

Cincinnati, April 22.—The league was late in convening and many delegates were not in the hall when President Thurston called it to order. An excitement followed when a big lot of tin plate, forwarded by Congressman Niedringhaus of St. Louis, was placed on the stage and a lively scramble for possession of the brilliant souvenirs followed. To the question of a delegate why they were sent, Secretary Humphreys said that Congressman Niedringhaus had made a prediction that within two years American tin upon American [illegible] would be [illegible] cheaper than the present rate. A Maryland delegate added that one of the largest canning establishments in the United States at Bellaire, Md., was buying tin now cheaper than it did [illegible] ago.

The meeting then read letters received. The reading was punctuated with frequent applause, but when the letter was announced from the president of the United States, the convention cheered again and again and [illegible] and papers and [illegible] until the great hall reverberated with the enthusiasm. At last [illegible] the [illegible] was renewed.

A letter [illegible] Delegate Hooker of Tennessee from Hon. J. Clarkson was by request read by Mr. Byrne of Minnesota.

Boston, April 22.

Hon. [illegible]:

Sir: The party at large watches this convention to-day with eager interest. It will set up the standard of victory of 1892. It will be faithfully representative of what is in the hearts and soul of the people. It will regard not merely the statesmanship of commerce and money but also the statesmanship of humanity. There are questions lying nearer the hearts of the American people to-day than the price of a tin cup or whether the color of the money of the realm shall be yellow or white. The greater questions are those of human liberty, the protection of the weak in their rights, the assurance of the constitutional form of government to the several states and absolute security and peace to the poorest citizen and family on the Yazoo as the richest citizen on the Hudson. The Republican party was not simply a great gladiator raised up in the emergency to conquer the rebellion and free the slave and then pass away. It still has greater and mightier things to do. As long as Democracy lives and resists the full interpretation and concession of the rights of all men, Republicanism must live and call its work unfinished. Unsettled questions have no pity for the repose of nations, and neither the betraying cowardice of a senate more careful of commerce than of human rights, nor the strange apathy of the pew-holding religion of this country which covets the negro for heaven but is dumb to his wrong in politics during this life can finally avert nor long delay their full and righteous settlement. On these higher lines and greater questions the party can retain its favor with the people and its power in the government. It is not a party which can live on simply commercial or sordid issues. It needs still the animation and inspiration of the heart of Lincoln in his love for humanity which is larger and better than all other things, than the ambition of trade or the thrift of shop or the profit of commerce.

Hon. J. S. Clarkson was, this afternoon, on Senator Mathews motion, elected president of the Republican league by unanimous vote. On motion of President Thurston, whose term of office expired by the election of Clarkson, Mr. W. W. Tracy was chosen president pro tem. The name of Andrew B. Humphrey, the present secretary was presented for re-election, also the name of Theodore B. Stauh of Pennsylvania, and of John J. Chester of Ohio. The call of the states resulted in the election of Mr. Humphrey.

The committee on resolutions through Judge John L. Webster of Nebraska presented a report. The resolutions honored the memory of General Sherman, Admiral Porter and Secretary Windom, indorsed President Harrison and the action of Speaker Reed in compelling the members of the house of representatives to transact public business, favoring protection and reciprocity, remembering the claims of soldiers and declaring the aim of the league to be the dissemination of the principles and doctrines of the Republican party as fashioned by the teachings of its greatest leaders. The committee reported in favor of Indianapolis as the next place of meeting, but the convention made a report to suit itself by giving the executive committee full power [illegible] place and time but shall make the time not less than three weeks after the national Republican convention. Then at nearly 4 o'clock the convention adjourned sin die.

Florida Senatorial Contest.

Tallahassee, Fla., April 22.—The first ballot to-night in the Democratic senatorial caucus resulted: Call 54; Speer 40; Bloxham 2. In the next ballot Call received 57; Speer 40; Bloxham 3, Blank 1. In the third Call lost 1, Speer 1 and Bloxham 2, while State Senator McKinnie and Secretary of State Crawford, a warm supporter of Senator Call each received one vote. One more ballot was taken, which resulted: Call 57; Speer 40; Bloxham 1. The caucus then adjourned.

The Intercontinental Railway.

Washington, April 22.—The intercontinental railway commission met to-day and adjourned until the first of May, 1892. The business of the commission is practically finished and the recess was taken to await the reports of the party now in the field making the survey. Ex-Senator Davis, of the commission, says that the project is progressing satisfactorily.

"Two civilian parties," he says "and one military crowd have gone to the sunny south land. Everything looks promising and we are hoping for speedy success. There is nothing dubious in the manner of the South and Central American governments. Many of them are enthusiastic, all behave most encouragingly. You see they want this railroad as much as we do, so they are giving us all possible assistance. Parties of civil engineers will accompany our parties from point to point."

Major Andrews of the Twenty-first infantry will move up to lieutenant colonel of the Twenty-fifth, and Captain Whery, Sixth infantry, will become major of the Twenty-first.

The New Orleans Grand Jury.

New Orleans, April 22.—The grand jury after its session to-day, during which time quite a number of prominent citizens appeared before them and were questioned as to public opinion concerning the affair on the fourteenth of March, adjourned until Friday. It is said a large number of names has been furnished to them, and if there is any indictment in consequence of the affair the name of every man found to have assisted in breaking down the jail doors will be included.

Katie Emmett.

The well known soubrette, Miss Katie Emmett, in her great play, "The Waifs of New York," will be the attraction at the opera house next Monday evening. The play will be produced with special scenery, showing the "The Great Harlem Railroad Bridge Scene," "Old Trinity Church," with real church chimes, "Castle Garden at Sunset," and "The Tombs Police Court." Katie Emmett is the only lady upon the stage to-day playing solely boy's parts, and there is probably no star better known or better liked, from the Pacific coast to the Atlantic, than is Miss Emmett. She is a bright, clever little actress and possesses a wonderful amount of magnetism that makes her performance of Willie Rufus in "The Waifs of New York," most enjoyable.

The foundations for Mr. J. B. Wheeler's bowling alley are being laid of the [illegible] red rock. The work has been delayed for some time, but is now being rapidly carried out.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

The New Aldermen Get Down to Work.

All of the city council were present at last night at the adjourned meeting. A petition was presented from the proprietors of the slaughter houses asking that the city defer action in the suits against them, pending an investigation by the board of health. After some debate the board was ordered to investigate and report.

Mr. Max Lindenthal offered to pay a water rent of at least ten per cent of the cost of the extension if the city would extend a water main to his house. Referred to the water committee.

Several of the city plumbers asked that the city do its own tapping of the water mains. Referred to the water committee.

The residents of Rock Island addition petitioned for one arc light, to be placed in the center of the plat. Referred to the street committee.

Action on the forty or more petitions which had been referred over from the old council was deferred.

The mayor appointed Aldermen S. J. Dunbar, W. R. Roby, F. L. Rouse, E. C. Bartlett and J. A. Leech members of the committee on President Harrison's reception, and they were duly authorized by the council to appoint a committee of twenty representative citizens to meet them.

While the city attorney was looking over the bonds submitted by the new city officers, the council proceeded to ballot for a sealer of weights and measures. Adnah Hemenway received 7 votes, C. B. Ferrin 1 and C. W. McCoy 3. Hemenway was declared elected.

The police committee recommended that the present police force be continued. Under the ordinance each name had to be balloted for separately and they were all finally re-elected. On the the recommendation of the police committee, E. W. Frost, George Stringer, J. W. McElhaney, John Kilgallon, M. B. Roseman, James McCabe, F. A. Mangold, James Doyle, H. C. Clay, J. W. Clark and N. M. Hyatt were made special policemen without pay.

The bond of W. H. Hoagland as city treasurer in the sum of $75,000, with J. A. Hayes, Jr., Irving Howbert, C. H. White, D. Heron, W. S. Nichols and J. A. Barlow as sureties was accepted.

The bond of A. H. Corman as city clerk, for $25,000 with D. Heron, W. S. Nichols, C. E. Stubbs, J. H. Bacon, A. A. McGovney, A. Amentrout, W. S. Jackson and J. H. Barlow as sureties was also deemed sufficient.

The bonds of L. C. Dana, F. A. Mangold and James Doyle were approved and it was ordered that all the bonds be recorded in the office of the city clerk and that the bonds of the city clerk and treasurer be deposited with the county treasurer.

The choice of fire department officers in the late election was confirmed.

The matter of the appointment of a purchasing agent was brought up. Alderman Roby moved that the matter be deferred and that in the meantime the city clerk purchase articles needed by the departments when so ordered by the chairman of the proper committee. Alderman Finnegan said that there had been some complaint that the patronage of the city had not been distributed equally among the business houses of the city. Mr. Corman had a great deal to do beside attending to this and he was in favor of taking the matter out of his hands entirely. Mr. Roby's motion was then carried.

City Attorney McMorris brought up the matter of the Tejon street undercrossing. He thought that the contract would be ready to be signed in a few days, but there seemed to be a good deal of red tape about getting it ready. Alderman Bartlett moved that Mr. McMorris go up to Denver this week and push the matter; carried. Mr. McMorris reported further that the Santa Fe company had sent an engineer to look into the matter of the extension of Bijou street through an undercrossing to El Paso street, and a favorable report had been sent to headquarters. The division engineer had written asking if a thirty-foot undercrossing, with a row of piers in the center, would be satisfactory, and after consultation with the city engineer and the street and ditch committee an affirmative answer had been sent.

Alderman Bartlett spoke of the temporary Cascade avenue crossing being blocked with a wire fence and recommended that the committee on streets try and see if they could not prevail upon the owners of the land crossed to open it until the Tejon street crossing was completed.

On motion of Alderman Bartlett the committee on public grounds and buildings was given further time to open and report upon the bids for the care of parks.

Senator McGovney's bill for pipe laid in Rock Island addition, amounting to $1920.24, was referred to the water committee.

Considerable discussion arose over a letter from the King Iron Bridge company stating that the additional iron work required by the D. & R. G. on the Bijou street viaduct would cost $1,350 more, and asking what they should do. It was finally referred to a committee consisting of the mayor, city engineer and city attorney to investigate and report as to the advisability to making the change.

Alderman Rouse, of the committee on the Huerfano street viaduct, said that the plans for it were very nearly completed and ready to submit to the rail road company, and on his suggestion the city engineer was requested to accompany the city attorney to Denver and submit the plans.

On the recommendation of the water committee, it was decided that the city purchase a tapping machine and do its own tapping in the future. The council then adjourned.

"From Sire to Son."

The popular actor, Milton Nobles, supported by Dollie Nobles and an excellent company, will appear at the opera house next Saturday evening. The New York World says: "Milton Nobles' powerful new drama, 'From Sire to Son,' is drawing large and fashionable audiences at the Grand opera house. The play is most skilfully constructed, and the interest is maintained to the end. Mr. Nobles does some superb acting when temporarily stricken with speechlessness in the first act, and wins a spontaneous curtain call nightly by his splendid work at the end of the second act, when he recovers the power of speech. The company is an unusually strong one, and the stage settings rich and appropriate. Dollie Nobles' sympathetic acting in the dual role of mother and daughter is one of the most interesting features in an altogether excellent performance. 'From Sire to Son' has promptly taken its position among the very best productions of native dramatists."

Attention, Firemen.

All members of the fire department are requested to meet at the city hall today at 2:30 for the purpose of attending the funeral of Mr. T. F. Clifford, late of Matt France Hose No. 1.

WOODLAND PARK, April 20.

There are quite a number of cases of the grippe in town and vicinity. In several instances whole families have been confined to their beds at the same time. Mr. Abbie has been sick for some time and the disease has finally developed into a bad case of pneumonia.

The heavy snow of to-day has delayed work on the new hotel and on the water works. The latter was to have been commenced this morning. These two improvements, when work is well under way, will give employment to a large number of workmen, and will give a lively appearance to our little town.

Mr. W. W. Alcocke and Mrs. Emma Jenison, of Colorado Springs, spent Sunday with the family of Mr. Lewis, a few miles east of this place. When on their way to town this morning their team started to run, throwing out all the occupants of the vehicle, the wheels passing over Mrs. Jenison, injuring her quite severely. It was a very narrow escape from a more serious accident.

Mr. Peck expects to have the first issue of the "Woodland Park Times" out next week. It will be a three column quarto small but with room to grow.

Sam Foster has just completed a small store building on Midland avenue. Mr. Walker is building a house, and others will be erected soon.

A foot of snow fell this forenoon, but it is rapidly disappearing.

NEW GEMS.
Among the valuable gems the "Noble Opal" has from earliest times held a very prominent position. In later times superstition seemed likely to ruin the chance of public favor for the "Queen of Night." Now again the demand for first class stones is in excess of the supply. A more modern taste amongst the lovers of the art is creating an excited demand for "Carved Opal." These are exquisite, the artist taking advantage of every play of color and using the porphyry as a background, produces effects unattainable with any other gem.

TWO WOMEN SHOT

FURTHER RIOTING IN PENNSYLVANIA COKE FIELDS

Hungarians Defend Their Houses Against the Sheriff. The Sheriff is Driven Away and Returns with Reinforcements. A Pitched Battle Ensues.

[illegible], April 22.—A special from Uniontown, Pa., says: [illegible] learned that evictions has [illegible] in the coke regions with [illegible] troops have been called [illegible] the tragedy and [illegible].

The Fayette county officers went to [illegible] side this morning where they made the evictions after a great deal of trouble and opposition. They were [illegible] by the strikers and [illegible] away.

Reinforced by Sheriff McCormack and a large force the deputies returned when a pitched battle took place between the sheriff's posse and about 300 Hungarians and women in which a Hungarian girl was killed and others injured, among whom are several deputies. The battle occurred about 3 o'clock this afternoon while the members of company C were lunching down at the Bar[illegible] house.

The deputies were trying to keep the Hungarians from carrying back the household goods which had been thrown out of the houses in the forenoon. A big strong Hungarian was fighting with the deputies, when Sheriff McCormack started to arrest him. The Hungarians saw him coming and tried to shoot. The girl who was near was a sweetheart of the big Hun and was fighting for him with the ferocity of a young lioness. The deputies say the pistol went off in the hands of the Hun and killed his sweetheart. If it had not been that several of company C at that moment came up, every deputy would doubtless have been injured, if not killed. Sheriff McCormick was shot through the thumb by the bullet that killed the girl.

Evictions will take place at Leith to-morrow and trouble is feared. One hundred and three Pinkertons are stationed at Leisenring where eighty-five men are at work in the pit. Company C will remain at Adelaid to-night. Deputies Crawford and [illegible] arrived here this evening with three prisoners captured during the riot.

It is learned at a late hour to-night that in the fight between the sheriff's deputies and the mob, that two women were fatally shot, one of whom died in a few minutes and the other cannot live. The sheriff used every precaution to avoid a conflict but his labor was in vain.

Another Riot

UNIONTOWN, April 22.—A second riot occurred at Adelaide at 4 o'clock this afternoon. A Hungarian girl was shot during the riot by her lover in mistake and is reported dead.

During the second eviction of a Hungarian family who [illegible] back into their house, the sheriff and deputies were attacked by a mob. One of the Huns drew a revolver and threatened to shoot the sheriff when Deputy Crawford started to take the revolver from the man. Immediately two shots were fired [illegible] the Hungarian [illegible], who had gotten between her lover and the deputy in the [illegible]. Another shot fired cut the sheriff's thumb. The girl was carried into an adjoining house, and shortly after was reported dead. Company C arrived about this time and the mob dispersed. The strikers afterward swore out a warrant for Deputy Crawford's arrest, but he waived the arrests to take three prisoners to jail. The deputy says the Hungarian tried to shoot Sheriff McCormick.

The Strikers' Meeting

SCOTTDALE, Pa., April 22.—Over 4500 strikers marched here this afternoon and listened to addresses of their leaders. The meeting was held at the lower end of town and the civil authorities offered no resistance.

Red ribbons were worn by many but contrary to expectations the red flag was not to be seen. Alex Jones, the Socialist, was the first speaker. He said if the newspapers were to be believed their mission was to provoke murder, etc.

De [illegible] the Socialist leader, next spoke and admonished the men to stay out till May 1, when the great eight hour movement would be inaugurated. He said instead of the Pinkerton men arriving in the coke region to-day much money had arrived. Other labor leaders also spoke. A blackleg who was found in the crowd narrowly escaped with his life.

In the Coke Regions.

SCOTTDALE, Pa., April 22.—The situation in the coke region has not materially changed. At the Leisenring plant of the Frick company 150 Pinkertons are doing duty and more than two carloads of the 500 Punxsutawney Italians have arrived. The people at the Painter plant report still more men at work this morning. General Superintendent Brennan is at the plant daily and is priding himself on being able to operate the works so far without the aid of armed officers. He generally stands well with his people and it is not thought any harm will come to him [illegible]. [illegible] five of the families there will be evicted to-morrow or Friday.

The Socialistic end of the striking miners commenced a series of meetings here to-day. Two prominent Socialists from New York are here to do the talking and it is feared harm may come to the community from their talk. However it is understood that officers will be put on their track and that they will be placed under arrest if necessary. No evictions occurred at Morewood this morning but Sheriff Clawson is here and will set the goods of eight families on the street during the afternoon.

Alliance Conference

HORNELLSVILLE, N. Y., April 22.—L. L. Polk, president of the National Farmers Alliance, Rev. B. H. Davis, chaplain of the Farmers Alliance and other officers of that organization are [illegible] delegates from the state Farmers Alliance here to-day. The morning session was public and the delegates were addressed by Henry Hicks and T. B. Maguire of the Knights of Labor who expressed themselves as being sympathy with the object of the Alliance. No business was [illegible] this morning. At half past [illegible] the convention reassembled and was [illegible] by the National Alliance [illegible] L. L. Polk of Washington. His address which consumed the entire afternoon was devoted to the work of the organization. He outlined the work [illegible] in the [illegible] and the south and spoke emphatically on the question of politics. He declared that the Alliance was no asylum for disgruntled politicians, and advised the local bodies to shun anything in the way of politics. We want no third party, he said, only a just and reasonable set of laws for the farmer and more economical administration of government. At the conclusion of his address the regular routine committees were appointed and also a committee to report —

QUO WARRANTO

Proceedings Against the Judges of the Court of Appeals.

DENVER, April 22.—The papers [illegible] warrant [illegible] Attorney General Maupin on behalf of the people of Colorado [illegible] George G. Richard [illegible] Bissell and Gilbert B. Reed, the judges of the court of appeals were filed with the clerk of the supreme court this morning. The petition alleges that each of the above named defendants has for the period of ten days and upwards last past held and still does hold [illegible] and exercise the office of judge of the court of appeals of the state of Colorado without any legal election appointment warrant or authority whatever therefor. The attorney general prays the advice of the supreme court and due process of law against the said defendants to be made to answer to the said people by what warrant he claims to hold the [illegible] exercise the rights [illegible].

The case will be heard next Monday by the supreme court.

The Secretary Explains.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Secretary Tracy when asked to-night why Commander Reiter after being relieved from command of the Ranger as a result of his action in the Barrundia affair had been given command of the Thetis, said that the order to Commander Reiter did not indicate the slightest modification of the position taken in the letter of censure. The public discussion of the secretary's letter and every fact that had come to his knowledge since confirmed the views expressed in that letter. The present detail, Secretary Tracy said, of Commander Reiter, was for purely scientific duty not connected with the naval squadron. The duty to which he was assigned consisted in completing the hydrographic survey which had been begun by him over a year ago. It was the duty of the department to utilize the services of its officers to the best advantage, and no other officer was equally available for that service. The Thetis, which Reiter is to command, is not a man of war, and does not carry a single gun.

Horse Breeders Convention.

CHICAGO, April 22.—The Trotting Horse Breeders convention assembled at the Wellington at 11 o'clock this morning. It was called to order by Henry W. [illegible] Mali, president of the national association of trotting breeders. Mr Mali in opening the convention said it had been called by the executive of the national association in response to [illegible] made at the last meeting of the association to reorganize and increase the membership and value of the organization. The committee had formulated a plan copies of which were at hand but that the plan under the constitution of the association could not be acted upon until next December. The question of official registration was not to be acted upon at this time. He believed in the organization of a national registration association. The organization of the convention was perfected by the election of Henry W. Mali as presiding officer and F. W. Packer as secretary.

Death of Gen. G. P. Grier

ST LOUIS, Mo., April 22.—Gen. G. P. Grier died at his residence in this city at a late hour last night. General Grier was a member of the G. A. R. and Loyal Legion. At the outbreak of the war he recruited a company of volunteers of which he was elected captain and which entered the service of the Union as Company G, Eighth Missouri volunteer infantry. On August 15th, 1862, he was commissioned colonel of the [illegible] Illinois volunteers and served throughout the war being commissioned brevet brigadier general on March 26, 1865, a promotion well earned by four years faithful service. The remains will be taken to Peoria, Ills., to-night for interment.

Hot Political Contest.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 22.—A Montgomery, Ala., special: Montgomery is now in the throes of one of the hottest campaigns for mayor in its history and feeling runs high. The contest is between Col. W. Ross, ex-mayor, and John G. Crommelin. Both have strong adherents and betting is even so far on the candidates, which is freely offered and as freely taken. It is estimated by a shrewd observer that over $50,000 will change hands on the result. There are a number of $1000 bets and $500 bets are common. Both sides are confident and lively times are expected. The primaries take place next Saturday.

New York at the World's Fair

ALBANY, N. Y., April 22.—Senator Stark's bill making an appropriation for the World's Fair will be reported by the assembly ways and means committee amended so that the commission for New York shall be Chauncey M. Depew and his alternate James H. Breslin and John Boyd Thacher [illegible] alternate James Roosevelt. The appropriation is also increased to $240,000 and all the provisions relating to the lady managers are stricken out.

Weather Indications.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—For Colorado—Warmer, fair, southerly winds.

The senate finance committee met for the purpose of determining its course of procedure under the resolutions directing the committee to make an investigation into the workings of the McKinley tariff law. A sub-committee consisting of Messrs. Allison, W. D. Rich, Hiscock, Carlisle and Harris was appointed to prosecute the inquiry. It will first collect syndicate information and will not until later in the year at least take any testimony. The sub-committee will meet next week.

EXTENSIVE FIRES

DAVIS AND CRESWELL'S DENVER HOUSE BURNED

The Most Extensive Machinery Establishment in the West. A Destructive Fire in Rome, N. Y. A Lot of Horses Cremated. [illegible]

DENVER, April 22.—About 10 [illegible] the [illegible] foundry [illegible] of Davis & Creswell on Blake street this [illegible]. In a few moments the [illegible] was wrapped in flames. [illegible] of the entire block was [illegible] but the [illegible] hard fighting confined the flames to the [illegible] starting place. The firm is the largest and most extensive of [illegible] and carried a stock of over $100,000. The [illegible] will be in the neighborhood of $100,000, divided among the leading companies. The origin of the fire is unknown.

A Big Fire in Rome

ROME, N. Y., April 22.—Fire destroyed J. H. Wiggins & Sons brick block 331 and 333 West Dominick street to-day. The second and third floors were occupied by Wiggins & Sons furniture store, the ground floor by F. & H. Barnard harness dealers and the basement by J. M. Sturtevant restaurant. The adjoining block owned by Mrs. George Dickerson, the Farmers hotel and the Pritchard block were also burned. Loss about $100,000, insurance $70,000.

Many Horses Burned

ST PAUL, Minn., April 22.—Fire started [illegible] o'clock in the board [illegible] stable of J. B. Cook on the corner of Eleventh and Jackson streets. It spread rapidly and by 12 o'clock three or four dwelling houses and several stables and a lumber yard, church and several other buildings were burning. Large numbers of horses were cremated. William Groves, a barn hand, was killed in trying to save one of the fast horses (Jennie C.) and two other barn hands are missing and it is thought they were suffocated in trying to save some of the horses.

At 1 o'clock this morning the fire was under control. The entire block was swept away including several handsome residences, Cook's boarding and livery stable, Hayward and Walker's planing mill and lumber yard, a Swedish church and several minor buildings. Sixty-six omnibus horses and three valuable trotting horses were cremated. Wm Graves was burned to death in attempting to save one of the trotting horses. Charles Larken was fatally injured trying to rescue Graves. Loss [illegible], insurance unknown.

Fire in Chicago

CHICAGO, April 22.—Fire in the furniture factory of Wollweeder & Co. on Randolph st. [illegible] this afternoon did damage estimated at nearly $100,000. Manley Semple, one of the employes, was badly burned.

Roasted Alive

DENVER, April 22.—Charles Sweaty, a lineman in the employ of the Colorado Telephone company, met with a horrible death to-night. He was repairing a telephone wire on the top of a very high pole on the corner of Curtis and Twenty-eighth streets. Lower down on the same pole were some electric light wires. His footing on the pole slipped and he fell, but still kept off the telephone wire, his feet touching the electric light wire which sent the current through his body killing him instantly it is supposed. He was found an hour and a half after he had been seen to climb the pole, his body lying across the electric light wires, the telephone wire in his hand and his flesh smoking and burning. Deceased was unmarried and resided in this city.

The body was literally roasted in the presence of over 1000 people who had gathered in the street, but none dared attempt to recover the body. The fire department was finally called out, and it was taken down with the aid of fire hooks.

DENVER, April 22.—Mr. Garrigues continued his address to the Millington jury, and did not conclude until 11 o'clock. He was followed by Mr. Lee for the defense, who took up the remainder of the day. Before beginning his reply to Mr Garrigues he said: "I will hazard the statement that there has never been a case in a court of justice where there have been as many witnesses, as many attorneys, as many officers in the secrets of the prosecution, aiding and abetting it, as there have been in this case. There never has been a case in which so much care and labor has been expended, where so many facts have been gathered together to winnow, if possible, some few grains of wheat from the mass of chaff. The prosecution have studied and elaborated these facts and woven them into a mosaic which follows some set pattern."

Mr Lee spoke of the incident of the quarrel at the court house. "What was the testimony? Why this man Budroe came up the street and he heard Millington and Avery quarreling. It was intended to prove that Millington had threatened Avery. It was necessary that they should quarrel. So they had Millington and Avery quarreling about Avery's wife. Avery had learned that Millington was intimate with his wife, that he had made his name a disgrace in the community and so this disgraced and outraged man goes down town, he meets the man who has shattered his family idol and he says: 'I'll tell [illegible] on you. If you don't stop I'll give it away.' That's what they would have you [illegible]. It was necessary they paid $[illegible] for this testimony. Why [illegible] it is worth $[illegible]. The estate is worth a great deal more than that."

Mr Lee then applied his remarks in a similar way to the testimony of Mrs. Revell, Mr. Probst and the servant girl, attempting to show that their evidence was manufactured for the occasion and for the purpose of keeping the Avery fortune out of Mrs. Millington's hands.

Begging Swindlers.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 22.—A few days ago two strangers, apparently farmers, arrived here and registered at the Merchants Exchange, as [illegible] and Christopher Rott of Ellendale, N. D. They told the exchange that the people of North Dakota were suffering intensely for food, clothing and money owing to the complete failure of the crops, and pleaded for assistance. They exhibited a letter from Judge Gresham of Chicago saying that the money was needed for the suffering people and stated $1500 had been raised in Chicago to relieve the distress. A snug sum of money was raised for them and they were sent to the mayor's office for more. The mayor was asked for $500 from the relief fund which was gathered for the Johnstown flood sufferers. The mayor grew suspicious and wrote to Governor Burke of North Dakota for a true statement on the subject before turning over the money. An answer was received to-day, showing conclusively that the farmers were not suffering [illegible] the governor [illegible] doubt [illegible] McIntosh county [illegible] state [illegible] the [illegible] people [illegible] without [illegible] as all efforts with the power [illegible] asking for food and aid.

Western League

DENVER–MINNEAPOLIS.

DENVER, April 22.—Denver out-played Minneapolis again to-day, but had a very close call. When the visitors went to the bat in the ninth they were eight runs behind but Keefe suddenly let down and the [illegible] pounded him all over the grounds. The visitors had sent six men across the plate and two men were on the bases with only one man out when Kennedy went in the box. Earle died on an attempted steal and Hengle struck out. Such an exciting game has not been seen here this season. One hundred people were in attendance. Score:

KANSAS CITY–SIOUX CITY.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 22.—Kansas City and Sioux City played a very exciting game to-day, resulting in a victory for the visitors. It was a pitchers battle and had Pears been given proper support he would have won the game. A very rank error by Manning in the eighth inning gave Sioux City a lead of two runs which the home team was unable to overcome. De Wald pitched an excellent game and was well supported most of the time. The only run Kansas City got was unearned. The score was as follows:

OMAHA, Neb., April 22.—Again did the Apostles fall a victim to the home team. Norman Baker was put in the box for the first time and five Saints fanned the air three straight before his steady throwing. Hart was in the box for the visitors and pitched a good game, but the heavy batters of Omaha were too much and eight base hits were made off his delivery. Both teams fielded well, but the heavy hitters placed their hits to advantage. The attendance was small. Omaha, [illegible]; St. Paul, 2.

LINCOLN–MILWAUKEE.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 22.—Lincoln took possession of the game at the outset to-day and held it until the close. At no time was Milwaukee in it seriously. Burkett pitched a faultless game, only letting down for a [illegible] spell in the eighth. Vickery was rapped hard by the home team and gave way to Clausen in the fifth inning without changing the course of events. The field work of both clubs was good. Attendance was the largest ever seen on the grounds. Score: Lincoln 12, Milwaukee [illegible].

Clamoring for War

LONDON, April 22.—To-day's despatches from Lisbon represent that the situation there is very grave. A popular clamor is again arising for war with England and the government may hasten a revolution by opposing the aggressive sentiment. The French emissaries are at work inciting the people against both royalty and England and it is [illegible] that the French government looks with approval on the agitation and is anxious to see the last reigning Bourbon driven from his throne.

Russian Persecution

ST PETERSBURG, April 22.—The official messenger published a decree prohibiting any Jewish artisans or traders from entering the city of Moscow and expelling those already residing there. The czar wrote with his own hand on the bottom of the original document to the officials [illegible] to be carried out in every particular. It is stated that [illegible] St. Petersburg.

At the last election Mr. McLean (Liberal-unionist) was returned without opposition.

Immediately after the baron's arrival he had a prolonged conference with the Marquis di Rudini upon the various aspects of the New Orleans affair. The outcome of this conference, if it is to have any definite result, has not transpired.

FRUITS AND FLOWERS

CALIFORNIA'S RECEPTION TO PRESIDENT HARRISON

A Night Ride Across the Desert. Indians Appeal for Assistance. The Speech at Colton. Los Angeles Reception. Among the Roses.

[illegible], April 22.—The presidential party entered the state of California at Fort Yuma at [illegible] o'clock this morning. His [illegible] was presented with a large quantity [illegible] flowers and fruit [illegible] party was met at this point by the [illegible] presentation committee. When the presidential party reached Indio it was received by a large and influential delegation including Governor Markham and staff, ex-Governor [illegible], [illegible] Judge Van [illegible] of Sacramento, [illegible], [illegible] Crocker, president of the Southern Pacific, and Mr. [illegible] of the Republican committee. Governor Markham made an address of welcome on behalf of all the people of the state. President Harrison made a short reply.

Before [illegible] leaving this station a delegation of Coahuilla Indians presented the president with a written petition asking for assistance. The [illegible] from Indio northward was up a heavy grade and three engines drew the train along slowly. The scenery in the valley between San Jacinto and San Bernardino mountains was much admired by the president.

Banning, a health resort, gave the president a floral welcome. The Indian children from the mission school nearby loaded the rear platform of the car with all sorts of wild flowers and the white children in the crowd pelted the presidential party with bunches of poppy blossoms. The president made a short speech of thanks to the people and received three cheers and an aerial salute in return.

At Beaumont more flowers were presented to the party and at Colton where the train arrived at 12:20 this afternoon another floral [illegible]. The station building was profusely decorated with flags and the school children of the town waved banners and cheered as the train halted. Reception committees from the towns of Redlands, San Bernardino and Colton were also on hand. The president was introduced by Governor Markham and made a few remarks which were loudly applauded. The train left Colton at 12:50 p. m. amid the strains of America by a brass band.

President Harrison spoke at Colton as follows:

We have traveled now something more than 500 miles. There have been 500 miles of cordial greeting from my fellow citizens; they have been 500 miles of perpetual talk. It would require a brain more fertile in resources, more diversified in its operations than the [illegible] of California in its productions, to say something original or interesting at each of these stopping places, but I can say always with a warm heart to my fellow citizens who greet me so cordially, who look to me out of such kindly faces, I thank you. I have been greatly pleased this morning to come off the land of the desert and drifting sands into the land of flowers and of [illegible] farms, [illegible] glad to see these beautiful gardens, these fertile fields and to know that you are now by the economical collection and distribution of waters of the hills making all these valleys to smile like a garden of Eden. We do not come as spies to look at your land with any view of dispossessing you, as the original spies went into Palestine; we come simply to exchange friendly greetings and we shall hope to carry away nothing that does not belong to us. [Cheers]. If we shall leave your happy and prosperous state freighted with your good will and love as we shall leave ours with you it will be a happy exchange. [Cheers.]

Los Angeles Reception

LOS ANGELES, April 22.—The presidential party arrived in Los Angeles at 3 p.m. in cars laden with fragrant flowers and California fruits. At Colton Mayor Hazard and the Los Angeles reception committee met the party. The Los Angeles railroad station held a good natured, struggling, enthusiastic mass of people when the train rolled in. Cheer followed cheer as the president alighted with Governor Markham and walked through a lane of policemen to a profusely decorated carriage drawn by four horses. Military and civic organizations had been formed along the principal streets and as the president's carriage passed along, Grand Army posts, military companies and civic societies lined the streets, and local officers and local committeemen fell into line. The president stood erect in his carriage, knee deep in flowers. He received a continuous ovation from the station to the city hall where a grand stand had been erected. The building and stand were profusely decorated with flowers and bunting and several thousand people were packed in a solid mass around the stand. When the crowd had finished cheering the appearance of the president Mayor Hazard made an address of welcome [illegible] Governor Markham introduced the chief executive who made a brief speech, paying tribute to the American flag and American institutions. Postmaster Wanamaker and Secretary Rusk also spoke and were very loudly cheered.

To-night the whole city turned out to a public reception given to the president at the Hazard pavilion. The exterior and interior of the building was decorated with flowers, the entire front of the stage being covered [illegible]. The president, Governor Markham, Mayor Hazard and Messrs. Wanamaker and Rusk made short speeches and after the president had shaken hands with a large number of the people present he and the other members of the party were conveyed to the Union League club and entertained by its members. From the club house the presidential party returned to the train and retired for the night.

The train left at 1 p. m. for San Diego.

The Republican League.

CINCINNATI, April 22.—The league was late in convening and many delegates were not in the hall when President Thurston called it to order. An excitement followed when a big lot of tin plate forwarded by Congressman Neidringhaus of St. Louis, was placed on the stage and a lively scramble for possession of the brilliant souvenirs followed. To the questions of a delegate why these were sent Secretary Humphreys said that Congressman Neidringhaus had made a prediction that within two years American tin upon American iron would sell for 20 per cent. less than the present rate. A Maryland delegate added that one of the largest canning establishments in the United States at Bellaire, Md., was buying tin now cheaper than it did one year ago.

The secretary then read letters received. The reading was punctuated with frequent applause, but when the letter was announced from the president of the United States, the convention cheered again and again and [illegible] until the [illegible] greeted [illegible] with the [illegible] there [illegible]. After the letter was read the applause was renewed.

A [illegible] letter from [illegible] was [illegible] by Mr. Byrn of Missouri.

BOSTON, April 22.

HON. J. [illegible]:

Sir: The party at large watches this [illegible] with eager interest. It will set up the standard of victory of 1892. It will be faithfully representative of what is in the hearts and [illegible] of the people. It will [illegible] not only the commanding of [illegible] but also the statesmanship of humanity. There are questions lying nearer the hearts of the American people to-day than the [illegible] of the [illegible]. The greater [illegible] of human liberty, the protection of the weak in their rights, the assurance of the constitution [illegible] to the [illegible] and [illegible] to the poor citizen and family on the [illegible] as to the best citizen on the Hudson. The Republican party was not simply [illegible] the [illegible] and free the slave and then pass away. It still has greater and mightier things [illegible]. [illegible] Democrats [illegible] lives and resists the full interpretation and [illegible] of the rights of all men. Republicanism must live and call its work unfinished. Unsettled questions have no pity for the repose of nations and neither the betraying cowardice of a senate more careful of commerce than of human rights nor the strange apathy of the [illegible] holding religion of this country which [illegible] the negro for heaven but is dumb to his wrongs in politics [illegible] this life can finally avert nor long delay their full and righteous settlement. On these higher lines and greater questions the party can retain its favor with the people and its power in the government. It is not a party which can live on simply commercial or sordid [illegible]. It needs still the animation and inspiration of the heart of Lincoln in his love for humanity which [illegible] larger and better than all [illegible] things than the ambition of trade or the thrift of shop or the profit of commerce.

Hon. J. S. Clarkson was, this afternoon on Senator Mathews' motion elected president of the Republican league by unanimous vote. On motion of President Thurston, whose term of office expired by the election of Clarkson, Mr. W. W. Tracy was chosen president pro tem. The name of Andrew B. Humphrey, the present secretary was presented for re-election, also the name of Theodore B. Stauh of Pennsylvania, and of John J. Chester of Ohio. The call of the states resulted in the election of Mr. Humphrey.

The committee on resolutions through Judge John L. Webster of Nebraska presented a report. The resolutions honored the memory of General Sherman, Admiral Porter and Secretary Windom, endorsed President Harrison and the action of Speaker Reed in compelling the members of the house of representatives to transact public business, favoring protection and reciprocity, remembering the claims of soldiers and declaring the aim of the league to be the dissemination of the principles and doctrines of the Republican party as fashioned by the teachings of its greatest leaders. The committee reported in favor of Indianapolis as the next place of meeting, but the convention made a report to suit itself by voting that the executive committee shall name the place and time but shall [illegible] not [illegible] than three weeks after the national Republican convention. Then at nearly 4 o'clock the convention adjourned sine die.

[illegible] Senatorial Contest

In the third Call lost 1, Speer 1 and Bloxham 2, while State Senator McKinnie and Secretary of State Crawford, a warm supporter of Senator Call, each received one vote. One more ballot was taken, which resulted: Call 57, Speer 40, Bloxham 1. The caucus then adjourned.

The Intercontinental Railway.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The intercontinental railway commission met to-day and adjourned until the first of May, 1892. The business of the commission is practically finished and the recess was taken to await the reports of the party now in the field making the survey. Ex-Senator Davis, of the commission, says that the progress is proceeding satisfactorily.

"Two civilian parties," he says "and one military crowd have gone to the sunny south land. Everything looks propitious and we are hoping for speedy success. There is nothing dubious in the manner of the South and Central American governments. Many of them are enthusiastic, all behave most encouragingly. You see they want this railroad as much as we do, so they are giving us all possible assistance. Parties of civil engineers will accompany our parties from point to point."

The New Orleans Grand Jury

NEW ORLEANS, April 22.—The grand jury after its session to-day, during which time quite a number of prominent citizens appeared before them and were questioned as to public opinion concerning the affair on the fourteenth of March, adjourned until Friday. It is said a large number of names has been furnished to them and if there is any indictment in consequence of the affair the name of every man found to have assisted in breaking down the jail doors will be included.

Railroad Riots.

DETROIT, Mich., April 22.—Four mobs congregated at different points to-night and tore up the railroad tracks. Detachments of police were summoned several times to restrain the rioters. Fifty rioters were arrested. The mob is in an ugly mood and will do damage before morning.

There is too much McKinleyism in the Republican League convention. That is not the way to win western votes.

Mr. Patterson's offer to submit the Millington case without argument was a shrewd move. However insincere the proposal may have been the jurymen must feel grateful for it.

President Harrison's reception in the land of fruits and flowers will be always memorable to him. The chief of no other nation could take a continuous land journey through such varied scenes.

Readers may notice a slight deficiency in our despatches this morning. Four large fires occurred in four widely separated cities, and yet no reference is made to the "fire-fiend." It is to supply the lack, that due mention is now made here.

The committee of the council upon whom was placed the task of appointing a citizen's committee to arrange for President Harrison's reception, have accomplished their delicate task in a satisfactory manner. The committee is a large and representative one, and will doubtless arrange a reception to the president that will be creditable to our city.

Some eastern papers are a little disposed to crow over the break-up of the Kansas City Commercial congress. There is quite as much disposition to sectionalism in the east as in the west. The eastern papers should not be too hasty in their comments. In the Denver convention to be held next month, the cranks will be kept carefully in the background and some real benefit obtained.

We heartily endorse what "Cheyenne" says regarding the road overseer of the Cheyenne road. There is no excuse for any bridge being out of repair on this road for more than a day at a time, and if Mr. Roberts were attending to his duties there would not be. For drives about here it is not simply necessary to have roads that a Bain wagon can go over without breaking down. For some time to come a very little attention to the Cheyenne Canon road will keep it in good repair, and a road overseer should be selected who will attend to this.

The indictments for bribery show how ridiculous the act of the grand jury in Denver was. One man was charged with attempting to bribe a Republican to vote for Hanna and the time given was after Hanna was elected, while another is charged with having attempted to bribe a Democratic member of the house to vote for Hanna for speaker. As the Republicans had about two-thirds of the house, it is a pretty absurd idea that there was an attempt to bribe a Democrat to vote for a Republican speaker when a Republican caucus had unanimously nominated that speaker.

The meeting of the National Academy of Science at Washington is not an event of great public interest. The distinguished scientists who meet to discuss the brain coils of the snail, or to inflict upon each other lengthy papers on the mathematics of some abstruse problem of theoretical astronomy may be very learned, but they are not interesting. The public prefers to read about Baron Fava and President Harrison and Denver's latest base ball victory. Popular science needs first of all to be interesting, and whether it is accurate is a secondary consideration. In astronomy for instance, people like to hear about the people who live on Mars, and the canals they build and the red grass and so on, much better than about new formula of gravitation and light or the weight and period of the latest asteroid. Whether the people on Mars exist or not, does not make very much difference. The public likes to hear about them all the same. There is always a strong mixture of invention in popular science, so that perhaps it is not real science after all. Nevertheless, even if we do not understand all about the abtruse astronomy nor feel that the convolutions of the snail's brain are a matter of vital importance, we are quite sure that the members of the Washington convention are a body to be proud of and an honor to this country.

Presidents' Tours.

St. Louis Globe Democrat.

The spirit of partisan fairness and of deference to legally constituted authority is admirably displayed in the popular receptions given to presidents in such tours through the country as they find time to make. On those occasions party divisions disappear, and, to paraphrase the words of Jefferson, we are all Republicans and all Democrats. Nobody could guess at the politics of the region through which President Harrison is now traveling by the manners or actions of the crowds which he passes or on the streets of the cities in which he stops. An overwhelming majority of the people who have thus far seen him on his route voted against him in 1888, and would do the same in 1892 if he should be renominated. In the whole region through which he has journeyed he did not obtain a single electoral vote. So far as regards its weight in a presidential canvass the party to which he belongs, and which he led two and a half years ago, is practically non-existent in the states which he has thus far touched on his tour. Yet the welcome which he has met with could not have been more cordial and spontaneous if it came from Vermont, Pennsylvania or Kansas.

The greetings which presidents receive mean more than those which crowned heads evoke from their subjects. With us, in a degree unknown in monarchies, the executive is the first gentleman of the nation. He holds a more exalted title than emperors and kings, and he wields power by virtue of a grander patent. It is the real and genuine divine right which he represents when he bears sway. He stands for the national will and the national intelligence, and the people of the nation, in their sovereign capacity, have affixed their signatures to his credentials. During his term of office he is a symbol of the nation's majesty and conscience. In power as well as out of it he is one of the people. Obtaining power at the people's hands he recognizes the source of his authority, and when the time ends for which he was called to exercise it he surrenders it into the keeping of the succeeding representative of the people and again becomes a private citizen. The manner in which he obtains power as well as the manner in which he lays it down when the term of his stewardship closes is among the grandest spectacles which the workings of civil government afford. These considerations make the president an honored and exalted figure, and insure him a hearty welcome from his countrymen, without any distinction of party, wherever he appears.

LITERARY NOTES.

Apropos of the recall of the Italian minister, Ex-Secretary Thomas F. Bayard is preparing an article for the May Forum on the power of the United States to enforce treaties violated within a state's jurisdiction. Though suggested by the present controversy with Italy, this paper will cover the whole ground thoroughly, and will refer also especially to cases that arose during Mr. Bayard's own diplomatic experience.

The same number of The Forum will contain an explanation of the new commonwealth of Australia, which has just been formed, by Sir Roderick Cameron, of New York, who is perhaps the best informed man in the United States on Australian subjects, having been knighted by the queen for eminent services to Australia by promoting trade with America. The new Australian commonwealth is a matter of great pride to Americans, because in great measure it has adopted the constitution and many of the political institutions of our own country.

In the May number of The Forum, too, will appear the first of the noteworthy series of articles by General Francis A. Walker on the census. The title of another timely article in the same number, will be "Reciprocity; Why Southward Only?" by Roger Q. Mills.

Rudyard Kipling will contribute to the forthcoming number of Harper's Weekly a new story of life in India, entitled "The Lost Relief."

A story of unusual power and strange plot will begin in the May "Cosmopolitan" and run through three numbers: The story of a man, who three times in his life undertakes to paint Jesus. As a young painter full of health and life, full of joy, he puts on his canvas, a Greek ideal of strength and beauty; just as the picture is on the point of completion, he learns to love a beautiful woman who returns his passion. After weeks at her feet he returns to his studio one day, and is filled with disappointment when he gazes upon the face of the Christ. It is the face of a beautiful heathen god, bearing no impress of that divine love which the painter now knows must belong there. His canvas is turned to the wall, and inspired by love he sets to work upon the image of a new Christ, who would be a God of Love. Again his picture is completed when the second great change comes over his life. She whom he adores turns from him to give her love to the Prussian officer whose Greek beauty had been the model for his first picture. Going back to work under the shadow of this deep sorrow, he looks upon the face of Christ upon his easel, and sees that once more he has failed. There is the beautiful face irradiating love, but there is not upon it the refining touch of sorrow that must have been in the face of Him who was "a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief." There was this wanting. He must set to work again, and paint not only the beauty of the Divine Perfection, and the love that embraced all mankind, but the sorrow of the man God who suffered for our sins. The author, Hjalmer Hjorth Boyesen, thinks he has given the best work of his life in this singular story.

A Defective Bridge.

IVYWILD, April 22, 1891.

To the Editor of the GAZETTE:

I believe it is the duty of the Road Overseer to see that crossings over ditches are kept in repair. There is such a crossing just before coming to Edgewood, on Washington avenue, on the road to Cheyenne Canon, which is all smashed up, and has been broken for a week or more. This morning a large carriage load of tourists had to stop while one of the gentlemen moved planks around so as to be able to cross. They may admire the scenery but what will tourists think of the road to the canons. Why do not the livery men punch the Road Overseer. It seems a mistake to elect an overseer. He is responsible to nobody. The citizens do not pick out the best man for the place, which should be done in a community where roads are of such importance.

"CHEYENNE."

A Fable.

—A pert young ostrich, inflated by the beauty of his growing tail feathers, encountered a hippopotamus taking the evening air by the bank of the river in which he was conducting his business. Sauntering insolently by, the bird returned the sedate beast's salute with a negligent nod, affecting at the same time to yawn. "My young friend," said the hippopotamus, in a tone of reproof, "if you must indulge in that practice, let me at least show you how it is done by those who have pursued it from youth." With these words he split his face, and, laying back the lid, exposed a cavern which presently closed on a paralyzed ostrich. Then the level beams of the sun fell with superfluous illumination on the features of a hippopotamus already lighted up by a saintly smile.

In the social game the bumptious youth who plays splendor of attire against an expert pair of jaws courts the destruction awaiting any other flushed bobtail that runs up against any other pair.—New York Evening Sun.

Kit's Reason.

Hon. John L—— does not like children, and the B—— children were told of his dislike before he came to dinner with their parents. Before the dinner they had been instructed to be very quiet during dinner, so, although both of them regarded the visitor with some curiosity, neither spoke a word until dessert came on. Then little Kit piped up with an almond in her mouth and all the shrill femininity of seven years in her tones:

"Mr. L., I've thought how it is about you. Don't you suppose the reason you don't like children is because you haven't got any of us of your own?"—New York Press.

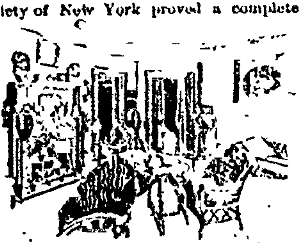
HOMES OF SOUTHERNERS.

THEY ARE AMONG THE FINEST IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Paul Latzke Describes Them with a Graceful Pen, and His Descriptions Are Supplemented with Pictures from Photographs Made to Illustrate This Letter

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, April 16.—To ninety-nine people out of every hundred the banquet given some time ago by the Southern society of New York proved a complete revelation. It was the first intimation that the general public had concerning the remarkable strength of the southern colony located in the metropolis.

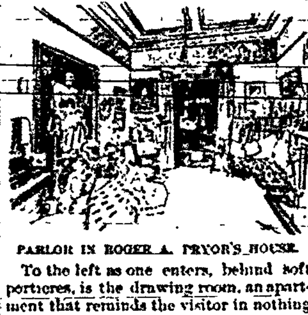


PARLOR IN COLONEL FELLOWS' HOUSE.

But even this grand banquet, with all its brilliant surroundings, gave but an inadequate idea of the number of southerners who have located in and about New York since the war. A conservative estimate places the total at somewhat over 125,000, and persons who have investigated the subject closely say that 150,000, enough to people a town as large as Louisville, is much nearer the correct figure.

Most of the members of this colony came north shortly after the war closed, generally with their fortunes sadly shattered. They were often handicapped at every turn by the most pronounced prejudice, but in the face of it all they went manfully to work among their new and not always friendly neighbors, and succeeding so well that now many of the most beautiful homes in the great city are owned and tenanted by families who were left all but penniless by the civil strife which cost so many human lives.

Probably the most typical among these southern homes occupied by ex-Confederates in the metropolis is the one belonging to Colonel John R. Fellows, the silver tongued ex-district attorney of New York county and present member of congress from one of the city districts. Colonel Fellows' residence is a large, square, roomy frame mansion on one of the prettiest locations on Washington Heights. From the great piazza, which runs half way around the house, a magnificent view of the Hudson can be obtained, while on the right the grand sweep of the western Boulevard, with its never ceasing stream of fashionable equipages, can be traced for several miles northward. The house lies on a natural elevation of rock nearly twenty feet above the level of One Hundred and Fifty-second street, which it faces, and is reached by a flight of broad wooden steps. The front door, which leads from the piazza to the house, opens into a hall that is large enough for dancing purposes. Ranged about the walls are all sorts of striking ornaments, prominent among which are several bookcases curtained with heavy plush hangings.



PARLOR IN ROGER A. PRYOR'S HOUSE.

To the left as one enters, behind soft portieres, is the drawing room, an apartment that reminds the visitor in nothing of the stuffy parlor, which is so often to be seen even in some of the best appointed New York houses. Everything is light and airy, and even in the hottest summer days, when life is unbearable in the average Metropolitan residence, Mrs. Fellows' "best room" is as cool and restful as a shaded bower at the seaside. And the same air of fresh daintiness pervades the rest of the house up stairs and down, bedroom, library and everything else. The dining room is a charming affair, with its cozy round table, potted plants and general air of comfort. The lady who presides over this pretty establishment is in every way worthy of the fame achieved by the woman of the south. She is a model housekeeper, and lives only for her family, which consists, besides herself and husband, of two sons and three young daughters.

General Roger A. Pryor, who was recently appointed to the common pleas bench, lives in a more aristocratic neighborhood than Colonel Fellows, his house being located at 80 East Thirty-third street, near Fifth avenue. It is a large brown stone, furnished throughout in exquisite taste. Mrs. Pryor, a calm, dignified lady, whose gentleness is manifest in every movement, is a prominent society leader. But despite her exacting social duties she is a thorough housekeeper, and besides this assists her husband as general secretary. Her "Sunday evenings" are a feature of the metropolis, and on these occasions she generally gathers under her roof the brightest people in New York.

The Pryor parlors are very stately, handsome apartments, and every piece of furniture and bric-a-brac has about it an imprint of the perfect taste possessed by the lady of the house and her husband. A distinguishing feature of the main parlor is a colonial mantel, on which stand a pair of massive candlesticks that were brought to this country a century and a half ago. The prevailing color everywhere in the room is a soft terra cotta, lighted with a shade of pale pink. The walls and ceiling are finished in this color, and it is reproduced in the heavy carpet which covers the floor. In one corner of the room fastened to the wall above a great divan covered in old gold silk, is a cabinet filled with Mrs. Pryor's art treasures in Worcester and Dresden china. On the opposite wall is a striking portrait in oil of General and Mrs. Pryor's daughter, Mrs. Bland. Soft couches and easy chairs fill up the corners. Mementos and souvenirs from the south abound everywhere about the house, especially in General Pryor's library up stairs, which takes up the entire front on the second floor.

John S. Wise, Virginia's ex-governor, is one of the latest acquisitions to the colony. He only came four years ago to locate permanently in New York, but both he and his wife have already taken a foremost rank in the metropolis. Mr. Wise's law practice, it is estimated, nets him $40,000 annually, and Mrs. Wise is one of the recognized social rulers.

Their residence at 18 East Twenty-second street, once the hall door is passed, seems more like a Virginia manor house than an ordinary brown stone front, near the busiest thoroughfare in New York. The parlor and dining room are as unlike as possible to the typical city apartments. The furniture is mostly of rosewood and mahogany, and has been in the family for a hundred years or more. In the parlor is a handsomely carved mahogany chair covered with leather. It was the gubernatorial chair of Virginia for thirty-five years, and served during the time the ex-governor was in office. Recently the state presented it to him.

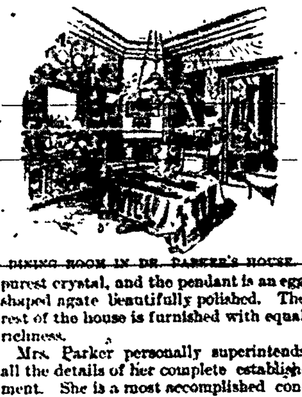
One of the gems in the room is an exquisite St. Lorens painting on Sevres china. It was taken from the Wise homestead during the war. Later Governor Wise discovered its whereabouts, and received an order for its return from the war department. The dealer who reframed the picture offered $1,600 for it. An oil painting by Tracy that will probably become historic hangs near the parlor entrance. It shows a lowland scene on the James river, and the exact spot where "Colonel Carter, of Cartersville," the hero of The Century serial, went on his famous shooting expeditions is well brought out.

PARLOR IN JOHN S. WISE'S HOUSE.

Another noteworthy picture is a portrait of Mr. Wise's grandmother six times removed. The painter has pictured a handsome, sweet faced dame, of whom any progenitor might be proud. During her comparatively short residence in the north Mrs. Wise has already become very strongly attached to New York and New Yorkers. She is a thorough southerner, however, and maintains her love for her native state with undiminished fervor. Of a slender, delicate build, she is, notwithstanding, possessed of a wonderful amount of energy and vitality. Her handsome face is framed by a great cluster of golden hair, and every feature shows her gentle birth and rearing. She is the mother of four children, one of whom is a West Point cadet.

Dr. J. H. Parker, the millionaire vice president of the Park National bank, is one of the most active southerners in the city. He is first lieutenant commander of the New York Confederate Camp of Veterans, and a leading member of the Southern society. His home at 18 East Sixty-ninth street is one of the most magnificent in a city noted for its magnificent homes. The drawing room is as rich in art as a painter's studio, and as elegant as money and refined taste can make it. The ceiling is a marvel of fresco work, and represents a sky with soft, fleecy clouds that seem to be drifting before a gentle breeze. Around the sides, as a border, a battlement extends, over which cherubs are leaning, waging a merry war with roses. About the bow window in the front of the parlor is a group of four cherubs, emblematic of the seasons.

In the selection of furniture, pictures and bric-a-brac for the apartment the most perfect taste has been displayed. Rich silken stuffs, with here and there a rare piece of embroidery, cover the chairs and divans; scarfs of oriental richness drape the mantel and stands, and the most exquisite carving abounds everywhere. The whole is lighted from above by a chandelier of the most artistic design. The arms and stem are of a delicate light bronze filigree, the globes are of the purest crystal, and the pendant is an egg shaped agate beautifully polished. The rest of the house is furnished with equal richness.



DINING ROOM IN DR. PARKER'S HOUSE.

Mrs. Parker personally superintends all the details of her complete establishment. She is a most accomplished conversationist, and her manners are tinctured with the warmth and polish of the south.

R. T. Wilson, the wealthy banker, who was the financial agent of the Confederacy in Europe, has a magnificent home at 511 Fifth avenue. His house is noted for its collection of rich tapestries and beautiful bric-a-brac, most of it picked up abroad. But amid all the foreign luxury evidences of the owner's southern birth and rearing abound at every turn.

PAUL LATZKE.

He Was Off.

He was getting a shine on his boots as he leaned up against the postoffice building, and observing that the bootblack had a black eye he remarked:

"I am afraid you are prone to belligerency, my son."

"What's them?" asked the lad.

"You have been engaged in a physical contest."

"I don't catch."

"In other words, you resorted to muscular force where argument would no doubt have been far better."

The boy rubbed away for a while and tried to straiten the kinks out of the several expressions, and then suddenly looked up and queried:

"Oh! you mean my black eye, don't you?"

"Of course I do."

"You mean that I've bin in a fight?"

"Yes."

"And got licked?"

"Perhaps. It is very sad to see one so young walking in the path which leads to sin and disgrace."

"You're off, old man—way off!" replied the lad with a good deal of spirit as he chucked his brushes into his box. "I wasn't scrappin' wid none of de kids. Seven big fellers was a robbin' of a man on Second avenue de odder night an' I jumped in an' saved him an' his boodle, and got d' eye for me reward."

"Oh, that's it! Then I am sorry to have said anything. I hope I didn't hurt your feelings. Here's a nickel extra."

"My feelin's was hurted, sir, but dis makes it all right. Scrap wid a kid? Never, sir!"

"That's right, my boy! A brave boy will not fight when he can avoid it."

"No, sir, and besides, it was his elbow he hit me wid, and all by accident, and do way I did lamb de stuffin' outer dot messenger boy and make him holler would hev made all your hair climb right up! Thankee, sir; I'm allus open to advice!"—New York Sun.

[illegible] Heroines of the Order of the Easter Star—Various Notes.

[illegible] arranging the Order of the Easter[illegible] the founder looked for five characters [illegible] should perfectly exemplify five classes [illegible] eroic virtues. The first four were to [illegible] analogy with the daughter, widow, [illegible] and sister of Master Masons. The [illegible] was found in the well known Catholic [illegible] of Electa, one of the most affecting [illegible] of apostolic times. There are [illegible] five heroines of the order: Adah, [illegible] thah's daughter, because she freely [illegible] her life to save her father's honor, [illegible] because she willingly left home and [illegible] to dwell with the people of God. [illegible] because she was prepared to render [illegible] crown, and even life itself, to save [illegible] people from destruction; Martha, be[illegible] of her undeviating faith in the merits [illegible] Redeemer; Electa, because she pre[illegible] to suffer death rather than deny her [illegible] belief.

[illegible] corner stone of the new Masonic [illegible] at Little Rock, Ark., was laid re[illegible] by Bro W. K. Ramsey, grand master, [illegible] and being ably assisted. Ap[illegible] addresses were delivered. When [illegible] pleted the temple will be a very fine [illegible] ture.

He expressed himself at the [illegible] of receiving the knighthood as charmed [illegible] with the ceremony of Knights Templar [illegible] only that it was not more wid[illegible] and better understood. His duties, [illegible] prevented his attendance on the [illegible] meetings but he was withal an en[illegible] Mason. His widow is said to be [illegible] man Catholic, and in deference to her [illegible] the tribute of Masonic rites was not [illegible] to his remains. He was highly es[illegible] by the brethren.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

The Recent Big Rally in Texas—Growth of the Endowment Rank

The days of the grand lodge session at Dallas were great days for the Knights of Pythias of Texas. It was also an occasion for a rally of the uniformed rank. It is estimated that 10,000 visitors were in the city, 4,000 of whom were Knights of Pythias. Among the noted knights present were Major General Carnahan of Indianapolis, Captain S. L. Hough of Chicago, General Joseph Lyons, of Kansas City, and General Newell, of Little Rock. The sessions were held in the city hall.

The endowment rank is growing rapidly. Supreme Secretary Kennedy reports the organization of thirty-eight new sections from Jan 1 to Feb. 24. Over 800 new members have been received, representing an endowment of over one and three-quarter million dollars.

The first Knights of Pythias lodge in Dakota was instituted at Yankton Feb. 20, 1880, and died in infancy, the first meeting being the only one held.

The report of the supreme secretary showed a balance of $177,758.50 in the depositing on Jan. 1, 1891.

A large number of new divisions of the uniformed rank are being organized throughout the supreme jurisdiction. Ohio leads with a hundred divisions.

There are sixty Knights of Pythias lodges in Chicago.

Growth Evenly Divided Between Northern and Southern States.

The Knights of Honor made a net gain during the past ten years, from Dec. 31, 1880, to Dec. 31, 1890, [illegible], and during the same period the growth has been about evenly divided between the northern and southern states, New York making a net gain of 6,674, being almost double that made by any southern state.

Miss Bessie, daughter of Past Supreme Dictator Gratz, was united in marriage recently to Mr. Eugene H. Kurtz.

Grand Reporter Lewis Wilson reports a net gain in Ohio during 1890.

The net loss in Massachusetts for 1890 was 93.

A QUARTER OF A CENTURY AGO

There settled in Baker county, Oregon, near what is now Baker City, a man who has since become identified with the interests and development of that country. This man is no other than Mr. John Stewart, one of the wealthiest and most influential citizens in the county. In a recent letter he says: "I had been suffering from pains in my back and a general kidney complaint for some time, and had used many remedies without any but temporary relief. The pains in my back had become so severe that I was prevented from attending to my work and could not move about without the use of a cane. Hearing through a friend, of the wonderful cures effected by Oregon Kidney Tea, I was induced to try a box and from that very first dose I found instant relief and before using half the contents of the box the pains in my back entirely disappeared. I have every faith in the virtues of the Oregon Kidney Tea and can conscientiously recommend it to my friends. I would not be without it for anything."

Oregon Kidney Tea cures backache, incontinence of urine, brick dust sediment, burning or painful sensation while urinating and all affections of the kidneys or urinary organs of either sex.

THE EYES.

How those that are Defective may be Bettered—Something in which fully One Half the Human Family is Deeply Interested

From the Chicago Journal.

How priceless a thing sight is can be conceived only by those who have suffered the loss. How great an object of solicitude should it then be to those of us who still possess it in fullness. Even greater should this solicitude be to those of us whose sight has been impaired by accident or an injudicious and careless use of the eyes. There are countless numbers who suffer untold misery that is attributable to defective sight. The eye is delicate, sensitive, beautiful and expressive of character; is one of the most tender organs of the body. Only skilled and careful hands should be permitted to touch it. Eyes that are but slightly wrong [illegible] ruined by inexperienced hands. There are many sad cases of total blindness that were produced by imperfect treatment. To guard against and avert these dangers those who are afflicted with defective eyes should consult with only the most eminent skill. The question that at once comes to mind is: Where can I find this skill and be assured that the treatment will be perfect? Yesterday afternoon a reporter passing along State street dropped into the Field building, at the northeast corner of Madison street. Directing his steps upward he reached the second floor and there at the head of the stairway found himself at Dr. Matthez's office. The door opened and a princely apartment was disclosed. Everywhere refined taste was displayed. The walls and ceilings were decorated after neat artistic designs. The carpet yielded under the feet, making the tread noiseless. The windows were hidden in [illegible] and lambrequins of delicate texture and hue, softening the sunlight as it entered. The furniture was of the Queen Ann style, gilt, carved in quaint figures, and inlaid with ebony. The upholstery was in perfect accord in material and finish with its surroundings. The walls were tastefully hung with water colors and engravings illustrative of works of art. Then there were cases of repositories for the instruments and materials used in the manufacture of spectacles and glasses, all of them were cheerfully shown and explained. The former embraced every variety known to the optician's profession.

Two weeks ago Dr. Matthez opened his office in Colorado Springs unknown except the flattering [illegible] by the medical faculty throughout Colorado and by those who had visited him at Denver. Now, in place of [illegible] to speak of his skill and ability there are hundreds who are loud in praise, expressions earned by meritorious work. He does not treat eyes medically, but optically, providing glasses adapted to each individual['s] eyes and made with [illegible] to each individual case [illegible] for the [illegible] of perfect sight by age, disease or hereditary transmission.

The regular monthly exhibition of the athletic club will be held next Tuesday night. A very good programme is being prepared so that this one may be even better than the last.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Lawrence Holden and Miss Luella Martin, Patrick Jones and Miss Annie McNally, and S. C. Rogers, Jr., and Miss Helen J. Budd, all of this city

The advertising scheme, which was the outgrowth of the hotel men's advertising meeting a few weeks ago, has met with so little financial encouragement that it has been practically abandoned.

You will be highly entertained if you attend the "Orange Festival" of the Sunday school at the Baptist church Friday night. Admission 10 cents, refreshments, [illegible]. The proceeds go for the building fund.

The funeral of T. F. Clifford occurred at St. Mary's Catholic church yesterday afternoon, Father A. Montinarelli officiating. It was attended by the France hall in a body and a large number of friends.

Adam Mott, the insane man who has been under the care of the city authorities since Sunday, and who yesterday attempted to overpower Officer Shelby and make his escape, has been placed in the county jail to await a decision in regard to the case. Mott's condition during his confinement is rapidly growing worse A sister of the insane man Mrs. Stebbins, of Denver, was notified of her brother's condition, and a letter was received from her telling how Mott fell from a scaffold onto his head when a boy, and since that time had been addicted to wandering about the country in a feeble minded condition. His sister requests that he be taken before a court, and sent to the insane asylum, and this will be done as soon as possible.

The warriors of Monday last were brought before Judge Kinsley yesterday [illegible]. Mr Artz gave the statements of Mrs. Trainor, the energetic woman who had quite seriously injured one of the inmates of the Empire House, at the time of the fight, by pounding him on the head with a rock This lady, said Mr Artz was a sufferer from heart disease and he wished his honor to take this fact into account during the judicial proceedings. The entertainment given at the Christian church by Miss Marion Lowell will be a very interesting exhibition of elocutionary science. Speaking of Miss Lowell the Spectator, of Minneapolis, [illegible] Miss Marion Lowell has what [illegible] be termed the oratorical temperament. Her face indicates not only sweetness and light, but power and self possession without effort. Those who heard her render 'Sandalphon' and 'The Old Clock,' at the Longfellow anniversary exercises were charmed with her expression She comes fresh from the triumphs of a phenomenally successful tour through the great centers of literary culture, where she was highly endorsed by the most critical and competent judges of elocutionary and dramatic art. Miss Lowell has a fine voice, sympathetic expression, an attractive personality, an impressive presence and a pleasing manner in her work both as a public reader and as a teacher She makes friends and wins praise wherever she goes, and commands the support of many leaders in the best circles of society"

The post office was closed at noon yesterday and the work of removal promptly begun The old fittings and furniture will be used in the new office. The inside office, instead of being partitioned off at one side as in the old building will stand in the center of the room The delivery windows will be at the front near the box and the boxes will be on both sides. At the rear on the south side, will be the postmaster's private office, and on the north side the stamp, registered letter and money order window. An archway in the rear leads down a short incline into the carriers' room where much new furniture has been introduced Three new carriers, desks of the pattern used in Denver a distributing desk and a new mail bag rack are some of the additions. The fitting up of partitions took some time longer than was at first anticipated, so the office may not open before noon to-day

Milton and Dollie Nobles.

The popular stars Milton and Dollie Nobles will appear at the opera house Saturday evening in their great play "From Sire to Son" An exchange says "Those two popular exponents of melodrama Milton and Dolly Nobles, are presenting 'From Sire to Son' at the Haymarket this week. This has been one of Mr Nobles' melodramatic successes, and it is certainly a play that holds the interest of an audience very closely It is such a play as an actor usually writes, brimming over with action, incident and situation While there is no pretense to literary excellence the dialogue is terse, vigorous and effective. The motive of the play is a pathological one, the hereditary characteristic of [illegible] of speech under strong excitement. The scenes are variously placed ranging from the far western frontier to Venice and a castle on the Rhine. 'From Sire to Son' is played with much spirit, Mr Nobles winning abundant favor for his acting as Armitage. The drama is interesting and picturesque.

The "Waifs of New York."

Katie Emmett in the "Waifs of New York will be the attraction at the opera house next Monday. An exchange says Katie Emmett and company appeared at this place of amusement last evening in a sensational melodrama, entitled the "Waifs of New York." The piece is full of sensationalism and has a sufficient quantity of interesting episodes to keep up the interest of those who like plays of that kind. The star, Katie Emmett, is a clever little woman who portrays the part of a street gamin with all the characteristics and "Boweryism" incident to that class of New York boys which she represents. Her support is good. A little tot named La Petite Lillian, who plays the role of Little Gertie, is the center of the plot, and on whom the motive of all the attack of the piece transpires. The Hans Schneiderkopf of Geo. W Thompson is a splendidly portrayed dialect performance, in fact, the best in the piece, and he is ably assisted by Miss Lizzie Davis as Katrina, whose German pronunciation is very fine.

WHERE JEWSHARPS ARE MADE

A Family of Smiths Do All the Manufacturing Outside of New York

The village of Bath-on-the-Hudson, though its manufacturing interests are few, can boast of possessing the only jewsharp factory in the United States outside of New York city Simple as the jewsharp is, it requires nevertheless, no little skill in construction

The proprietor of the factory in Bath is John Smith and he has perfected himself to such an extent that his work is recognized as among the best in the world. The factory is a small building situated a short distance off Third street, and although unpretentious contains every facility for the manufacture of jewsharps.

Twenty years ago, in England, Mr Smith began his apprenticeship at the trade Hearing from friends in this country that here would be found a better market for the sale of his specialty, he determined to emigrate Arriving in New York he failed to secure employment, and deciding to start in business for himself he went to Troy and opened a factory there He was but moderately successful in Troy, and after a short time moved to Bath built a factory and is perfectly satisfied with the location. The Smith jewsharp is sold principally to firms in New York Boston and Chicago. These firms sell the goods to retailers throughout the United States.

When the factory is running at its fullest capacity over two gross a day are turned out The busiest time of the year is that just preceding the holidays. During this season the factory employs five people the proprietor, his two sons and two other Englishmen, who live near the factory

The manufacture of the "harps" is an interesting process, and but few people are aware of the large amount of work expended in making a jewsharp of good tone. The frames of the instrument are not made by Mr Smith He buys them from a foundry Upon these frames is bestowed the least work it is in setting the steel tongue in the frame and filing the lower portion of the frame to fit the tongue that the most care and skill are required.

The first work done on a jewsharp is to place the frame in a vise file off the roughness and taper down the points, so that each side presents a sharp edge between which the tongue is to vibrate The most delicate work then begins. A piece of steel wire is cut from a coil hammered flat at one end and left round at the other, and tempered with the greatest care The flat end is then set in the arc of the frame, and then the two ends are carefully pressed and hammered until they come as close as possible to the tongue without touching it

The round end of the tongue is then bent in the form of a right angle the point is turned over and the "harp" is ready to be placed in the hands of a finisher. There are seven sizes and four kinds of finishing—the common gold bronze, lacquered and tin plated The harp can be toned to any pitch To make the tone high the tongue is made small and pressed back toward the frame to make the tone lower it is bent forward Mr Smith is not only a good maker of the harp, but can extract quite a little music from the little instrument He can also play two at once which he tunes so that they are in harmony by filing the frames

When business is rushing, Mr Smith's whole family is pressed into service and each member excels in his or her particular work Mr Smith prophesies that within a few years the instruments he makes will be in more general use than now He has once enlarged his factory and expects to do so again —Albany Journal

Conversational Equality

For conversation society must not be very unequal By inequality I do not refer to the doubtful distinction of banking accounts or family trees. So far as these are concerned there is nothing so democratic as conversation But it does demand some approach to a similarity—not in opinions with good temper these may widely differ—but in manners and taste and above all in intellectual capacity When people are brought together without care for these similarities we know what happens. If their number be large enough they invariably split up not by cold exclusiveness but by natural selection into mutually appreciative groups of which each member has some affinity for the rest.

Where this instinctive distribution is thwarted by smallness of numbers or the fussiness of a host impossible we may expect a dull time All know Bret Harte's tale of a man who had never heard of Homer before and asked What was his other name But there has been talk as in real life of one who had to endure much at the hands of the ignorant —Gentleman's Magazine

UNPLATTED ACREAGE.

We have a fine piece of unplatted acre property, right in the city limits, on car line, and surrounded by new houses, that can be platted and sold off in lots rapidly and at a handsome profit. We are the exclusive agents for the property. It is part of an estate that must be closed up at once, and in order to effect a quick sale the property is offered at $6500, if sold soon.
